HIGH PRICED PEACHES. The Ones They Had In London, Perhaps, but Not In New York. They walked toto the breakfast room at one of the big New York notels the other duy-finicky, precise and querulous. They had just returned from a tour of Europe and gave that consinent the big talk at every chance.

"Have you no South African peaches?" they asked plaintively, "We have been stopping at the Savoy in London, and there were plenty of South African peaches." The hotel manager was found. He bastened to the complaining ones. Certainly the botel bad South African peaches. They were imported espe FOR RENT - An eight-room house. cially for the hotel guests; came from the same peach orchard that the Savoy's peaches did. POSTAL PUZZLES.

They Were Easy Reading For Uncle Sam's Clever Officials.

A letter with the addressee's face roughly drawn on the envelope and the words "Baltimore, Md.," following wasn't too great a puzzle for the men who decipher mail addresses for Uncle Sam. The letter was sent from Clarksburg, W. Va., by J. M. Crouch. When it reached the Baltimore postoffice the postmaster said it had to be delivered. Several of the experts were puzzling over how that trick could be turned when the mail carrier in whose district a big botel is walked up to a group around the man holding the letter and said. "Why, that's Sam Hoover, chief clerk of the - hotel." And it was for Sam, who opened it and learned that his friend wished to engage a room for that night. When Crouch arrived at the hotel the room was ready for him.

About twenty years ago a Europeau peasant mailed on the other side of the Atlantic a letter the envelope of which bore this sort of address:

HANS SIEGLICH,

First House in America. It was easy for New York postoffice men, the first house in America to immigrants being Castle Garden, where they were then received. In Castle Garden Hans was found without delay .- New York Press.

Tough Luck. "Tough luck Jipson had."

"What happened?" "In order to keep his rook he told her she might have the use of his touring car two afternoons a week."

"Yesterday she eloped with the chauffeur."-Birmingham Age-Heraid.
